OC HUMAN RELATIONS AWARDS 37:

Honoring outstanding people and organizations for exemplary contributions to human relations in our schools, communities and police departments

Building Bridges of Understanding

"This program is one more example of how the police can leverage resources and provide better service through community partnerships."

—Westminster Police Chief Andy Hall on the Psychiatric Emergency Response Team

"Latino characters in most plays are stereotypes or non-existent. The impact of our work in the community has been great. They see their stories and their issues addressed through art in a play."

—Breath of Fire Latina Theater Ensemble member

"I felt like an outsider a lot... and I was bullied. I'm involved in the BRIDGES program because I want to make sure other students don't go through that."

—Corona del Mar High School student
